

My time with Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. served to shape me to an extent that is difficult to convey through this testimonial alone. Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. has a ‘strive for nothing but the best’ work ethic, which fortunately rubbed off on me during the time I spent with the firm. I am grateful for the opportunity to have been immersed in that truly unique environment among so many gifted legal minds. Undoubtedly, my experience with Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. was instrumental in helping me to secure a place at a top Ivy-league law school and the insight I gained through my time with the firm will serve me all throughout my legal career.

I began working at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. after college. I had recently graduated and moved to New York to pursue my hope of becoming a lawyer in the USA. Coming from a non-legal educational background, I was eager to find a job opportunity that would provide me with the real, first-hand, invaluable experience of what it would be like to work for a top law firm in the city. Fortunately, I found exactly that at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C..

During my initial interview with Mr. Bailey, I explained my law school ambitions and mentioned my preference for editorial work. I was thrilled when Mr. Bailey assured me that if I performed well, over time my job role could be tailored to incorporate my preferences. Having interviewed for positions with many other top companies, this was the first time a potential employer actually considered my individual motivations and preferences in my job role. Indeed, Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. was truly unique.

I was eager to work to my best standard, not only because I was surrounded by some of the most elite professionals in real estate law at the firm, but also because the effort I put into my work was directly proportional to what Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. gave back.

After earning Mr. Bailey’s trust through my work, I was given the ultimate reward—the opportunity to edit Mr. Bailey’s upcoming book about buying a home. This was literally my dream job role. Not only was I able to explore an existing interest while expanding and sharpening my editorial and research skills but I also developed new areas of expertise by learning all about home buying and real estate law in the process.

Alongside the book, Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. diversified both my job role and my skill set by tasking me with producing marketing materials. I also was given the opportunity to participate in shaping the company’s website and to review legal case studies and the company’s seasonal newsletters. Aside from my usual job role, I was also invited on many occasions to participate in some of the charity work that the firm does. This included joining in on school trips organized and led by Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. for high school students.

In addition to all this, being mindful of my interest in the law, Mr. Bailey constantly offered me opportunities to accompany attorneys to depositions, client meetings and to court. In fact, I was taken aback when on my very first day Mr. Bailey invited me to join him in a meeting with clients at an assemblyman’s office.

Knowing my intention to attend law school, the attorneys at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. were also very forthcoming in providing advice and guidance during the application process. Mr. Bailey very kindly took the time to coach me on my personal statement when I was in utter despair—his comments and advice provided my statement with a much-needed makeover and his guidance helped me produce a successful essay in the end. Mr. Bailey also arranged for me to meet with a contact at my top law school choice (and the institution I am now attending) for insight into the admissions process and student life. In addition to all this, I listed the Mr. Bailey as my reference in my law school application and he wrote me a glowing recommendation, which no doubt played an important role in the success of my application.

I have explained how instrumental my time at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. was in shaping me for my future legal career, but finally, I also want to stress how much of a fun experience it was to work at the firm. Although Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. is a highly professional environment, all members of staff are extremely friendly and helpful. There is a strong team feel in the firm, and frequent office events, parties and celebrations give you the opportunity to get to know your colleagues. Working at Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. provides you with social as well as professional opportunities; as part of Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C., I was invited to attend real estate law events, conferences and law lectures that I otherwise would never have had access to. Other social perks include the opportunity to obtain theatre and sports tickets through the firm.

In short, I leave Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C. with the fondest memories and with invaluable experiences that will no doubt serve me throughout my legal career. Any hard-working, bright and talented individual who strives for greatness would be fortunate to work with Adam Leitman Bailey, P.C..