

REAL ESTATE LITIGATION LITIGATING THE COMMERCIAL LANDLORD-TENANT CASE

Wednesday, September 13, 2006 / 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

This program will present an exceptional opportunity to learn from an elite group of experienced practitioners and judges who will examine various issues arising out of commercial landlord-tenant litigation and its impact on the drafting of commercial leases. The lecture will commence with the basics of litigating commercial landlord-tenant cases with an emphasis on how to prepare for and present an effective case. Common defenses and issues will also be outlined, as well as the body of case law most cited by practitioners and judges. In addition, common issues facing both landlord and tenant lawyers will be discussed including issues raised by the latest decisions from appellate tribunals. Finally, common drafting problems and traps that frequently lead to litigation will also be addressed as well as some "secrets" on how the transactional attorney can better draft leases to avoid litigation.

Practitioners should become more knowledgeable litigators as a result of this lecture and commercial leasing attorneys will learn how to draft better leases to avoid ineffective or unenforceable language and minimize litigation.
